Top tips for a cosy home

Add a deep or warm-coloured table runner or cloth to your coffee table. Position a few scented candles in the centre. Dark velvet-covered boxes, tapestry pillows, faux fur cushions, and candles are great accessories for adding instant warmth.

An essential winter decor accessory is the throw. Choose soft and luxurious textures, warm colours and washable fabrics. Drape a thick and chunky throw over the arm or back of a sofa. When selecting a throw, bigger is better – that way you can snuggle up together!

Add rugs if you have ceramic tile or laminate floors. Rugs help to soften the look and feel of floors and add warmth underfoot. Rugs also add texture and pattern to a room. Again, choose deep warm colours.

Lighting has an important role in adding a feeling of warmth to a home. Soft lighting from table and floor lamps add a feeling of instant warmth to a cold room. Use low-wattage globes for a soft, relaxing light.

Bring the furniture closer together to give the room a cosier feel. Use heavy fabrics for slipcovers to add on more warmth. Velvet has a luxurious, warm texture and a soft sumptuous feel. Add on multiple colours and textures for cushions.

Wooden accessories on tables, beautiful lampshades, brass and copper ornaments, and plenty of cushions will add a feeling of warmth to any living room.

Get the fire burning and pull the armchairs up close. You don't have a fireplace, that's not a problem. The gas heaters available today can be just as attractive and provide enough heat to warm up a medium-sized room with ease.

Even bathrooms can be given instant warmth for the winter months. Deep, fluffy red towels and mats, soft lighting and lots of bubble bath on hand to immerse yourself in warmth and luxury on those cold winter nights. goodness - I'm already yearning for summer!
